New Wilderness Landing Site Construction

Icy Strait Point Construction Updates

Icy Strait Point uplands work is in full swing. Construction crews have completed the wilderness landing tour sales building and new gift shop. Alaska's first high-speed gondola system is being constructed with the first phase near completion. The Transporter Gondola will move guests from the new Wilderness Landing across the site. The Mountain Top Gondola is still under construction and will take guests to the top of the mountain where our world-famous ZipRider takes off. With a total of 89 cabins, the gondola system will be able to move 11,200 guests per hour. Each gondola offers an exclusive window seat per passenger and will be wheelchair/scooter friendly, enhancing the Icy Strait Point experience for those that face mobility challenges. This system will provide families and guests of all ages a new unique opportunity to experience the Alaska wilderness and to see all of the beauty that Glacier Bay has to offer from a seat in the sky. Guests and locals alike will have access to a new, unique, and uncompromised wilderness experience - bolstering Icy Strait Point as the best cruise destination in the world.

COVID-19 Response

In March 2020, Huna Totem received word of the cruise lines' plans to halt ships coming to Alaska due to the coronavirus pandemic. The canceled season creates a widespread, negative financial impact across Alaska's tourism corridor. All travel and service providers are facing difficult choices, from Southeast Alaska, through the Interior, and even reaching the most northern villages. Huna Totem is not immune. Our subsidiaries, Icy Strait Point operating in Hoonah, AK and Alaska Native Voices, our onboard cultural tourism programs, are hit especially hard by the COVID-19 travel shutdown. We have been forced to postpone all operations until 2021 and required to implement cost saving measures until ships return to our waters. Now, it is important to prepare for the new health and safety standards of the travel industry. Icy Strait Point's management team is preparing a comprehensive mitigation plan for a complete re-opening. Huna Totem is engaged with our cruise partners to influence their COVID-19 port protocols. Our top priority is to protect the wellness of our shareholders and the communities of Hoonah and Juneau who openly welcome hundreds-of-thousands of global travelers each summer season. As additional information and insight becomes available, we will share them before the various openings actually occur.

Curbside Shareholder Services

As the reported number of COVID-19 cases in Juneau remain constant, the Huna Totem office continues to be closed to the public. However, we want to be more responsive and make the exchange of documents and information easier. Shareholder Services is now offering curbside service exclusively for Huna Totem shareholders. From 10 am-noon and 2 pm-4 pm on Thursdays, simply pull-up to the Huna Totem office front entrance. A Shareholder Services Representative will come out to greet you. To maintain the local and CDC guidelines, all persons in the vehicle must wear facemasks and stay inside the car at all times. The Shareholder Service Representative will also wear a mask and gloves while maintaining 6 feet of social distance during your visit. You may be asked to return for a follow-up visit due to limited number of services available as part of the curbside program. Complete details are available on MyHunaTotem.com.

Shareholder Spotlight: Edward Davis and William Davis

Huna Totem would like to extend our congratulations to Chairman Edward Davis on his new position as Vice President for Craft3, located in Seattle. Craft3 is a large, certified community development financial institution (CDFI) with offices located throughout Washington and Oregon. Since its inception in 1994, Craft3 offered over $470 million in financial support to more than 6,000 people/businesses. Formerly, Edward was the Executive Director for Spruce Root Community Development in Juneau; he did an outstanding job building a solid organization, providing business assistance for entrepreneurs, loan capital for those not able to tap traditional financial institutions, and increasing capital available for lending throughout the region. In his new role, Edward will be developing and strengthening capital and partnership/investment opportunities within Indian Country throughout the Pacific Northwest.

Huna Totem is pleased to announce that Director William Davis was promoted to Senior Associate Vice President of Individual Giving at City of Hope, a national comprehensive cancer center. William has been a valued member of the Office of Philanthropy at City of Hope for more than 9 years, and has demonstrated great success as a fundraiser, thought leader, and strategic partner for City of Hope. During his 9-year tenure, William has been a key driver in raising more than $125 million to support vital City of Hope initiatives.

Huna Heritage Foundation Releases Mini-film Series

Huna Heritage Foundation (HHF) is excited to share the creation of a short film series, highlighting the stories of our collective past for the education and enjoyment of our culture and heritage. The HHF Short Video Series project has produced two 20-minute films from archival footage, photographs, and interviews. The first short film is on the 1944 Hoonah Fire and the other on Hoonah Fishing History. A sneakpeak of the first film, titled “Haa Kusteeyíx Sitee - Our Way of Life,” was shared during the 2020 HTC Annual Meeting, featuring archival footage of revered Hoonah culture bearers sharing stories. These films are funded from an Institute of Museum and Library Services Enhancement grant. Executive Director Amelia Wilson said, “Hearing the voices and seeing the faces of our local treasures sharing their knowledge and wisdom is a heart-warming reminder of the legacy they have left for us all.”

In addition to the short films produced from archival footage, HHF has begun a mini documentary how-to series on the harvest of traditional foods in collaboration with the Hoonah

Indian Association Environmental Program. The first how-to film, featuring HHF board secretary Mary Peterson, is called “How to Harvest Spruce Tips.” The second film features HHF board trustee Gordon Greenwald, entitled “How to Harvest Beach Asparagus.” Additional how-to mini documentaries will be created on harvesting fireweed and blueberries. The how-to series are approximately 2-minutes long which allows for prime sharing on social media. We hope to increase awareness, understanding, and celebration of our local traditional foods and inspire folks to get out and harvest. The positive response to these videos affirms high interest of shareholders and descendants in HHF continuing to produce mini docs.

Michael Cheslock, HHF Project Coordinator and descendant of Huna Totem is the video editor and producer. All films are published on the Huna Heritage Digital Archives and can be accessed by visiting archives.hunaheritage.org

New Huna Heritage Foundation Cookbook

The HHF Board of Trustees is excited to share that HHF will be creating a new cookbook. HHF welcomes submissions of traditional food related recipes. If you have two or more recipes selected for publication, you will receive a free copy of the cookbook. Anyone interested in purchasing a cookbook can make a donation that covers printing costs to the Huna Heritage Endowment Fund. HHF project coordinator Michael Cheslock will spearhead this initiative and he will be the point of contact for recipe submissions.

For more information contact Michael at mcheslock@hunaheritage.org or call HHF at 907-789-8582.

Huna Totem Collaborates with Partners to Support Hoonah City Schools

Huna Totem Corporation partnered with Royal Caribbean Group and Norwegian Cruise Line Holdings, along with the City of Hoonah and SnowCloud Services to support Hoonah City Schools. The 2020-2021 school year will begin September 10th but will need access to an online platform, and thus internet connectivity will be vitally important.

Working together, the partnership identified the needs and solutions for the students. The program offers the Hoonah City Schools the necessary PC hardware and internet access equipment, expands broadband access and increases points of service throughout Hoonah, puts laptops in the hands of students who need them, and is working to support internet services.

Hoonah City Schools Board President Harold Houston thanked the City, Huna Totem, Norwegian, Royal Caribbean and SnowCloud for their support, saying “It will be really helpful to the schools and students, especially as none of us were prepared for what hit us with COVID-19.”

Each partner of the Hoonah City Schools’ initiative is financially committed to the success of the program. Huna Totem Corporation and Norwegian Cruise Line Holdings have each committed $10,000 to the project, the City of Hoonah appropriated $30,000, and Royal Caribbean Group collaborated with Dell to provide 35 laptops. The combined effort is $50,000 plus 35 computers. Along with SnowCloud Services’ discounts the combined contribution is estimated at more than $80,000 to Hoonah City Schools.

“Technology unlocks opportunity for our community,” said Russell Dick, Chief Executive Officer of Huna Totem Corporation. “We are proud to support our students and keep our schools here in Hoonah digitally up-to-date.”

Hoonah City Manager Dennis Gray added “We are happy to partner with our local village corporation and the cruise lines to help our schools get through this crisis.”

Royal Caribbean Group and Norwegian Cruise Line Holdings are longtime supporters of Hoonah and Icy Strait Point. Royal Caribbean Group was the first major cruise line to commit its ships to Hoonah. Norwegian Cruise Line Holdings is a significant investor in the newest developments at Icy Strait Point. Together, their commitment to the community and its needs extends beyond the economic activity that is generated from their visitors. During this pandemic, they have continued working to support Hoonah City Schools and the community even as their sailing schedules have been largely canceled for the 2020 Alaska summer season.

Scholarship News

The 2020 educational deadline was extended to June 1st, 2020 to accommodate changes in the summer semester. However, Vocational and Cultural scholarships are available year-round!

Huna Heritage Endowment Fund

In February 2020, Huna Heritage Foundation established an endowment at The Alaska Community Foundation to ensure Huna Heritage has a stable and sustainable future. The purpose of this fund is to support the work of the Huna Heritage Foundation to fulfill our mission to “Enrich our way of life in perpetuity.” Today, we are growing that endowment to ensure that our donors’ contributions continue to make a difference for shareholders and descendants now and into the future. All earnings will support cultural and educational opportunities for those we serve. HHF Board Chairman Anthony Lindoff shares, “The HHF Board of Trustees is thrilled to see the long-term goal to establish an endowment fulfilled. The Huna Heritage Endowment Fund represents our commitment to and investment in fostering opportunities to perpetuate the Huna Tlingit culture and promote educational experiences for current and future generations.”

The Alaska Community Foundation provides professional investment expertise, manages our endowment, files the tax returns, and distributes the income from our endowment. To make a donation to the Huna Heritage Endowment Fund online, please visit our page on the Alaska Community Foundation website at <https://alaskacf.org/blog/funds/huna-heritage-endowment-fund/>. Donations can also be made by check or money order payable to “The Alaska Community Foundation – Huna Heritage Endowment Fund” and mailed to The Alaska Community Foundation, 3201 C Street, Suite 110, Anchorage, AK 99503. We also welcome bequests or legacy gifts, and can help with this process if you are interested in including our endowment fund in your estate planning or will.
